Join TMA Toronto for our revamped, intensive and interactive workshop focused on honing dispute resolution skills through interest-based negotiations in the context of a real life restructuring case study.

Participants will be put in the midst of a restructuring scenario, try to uncover the facts of the situation and negotiate a resolution. Role play will be with experienced and respected insolvency/restructuring professionals, practitioners, financial advisors and lenders who comprise our TMA Toronto Faculty.

An exciting advent: The TMA Toronto Faculty will be led by Professor Richard McLaren, a recognized international arbitrator and mediator for commercial and business matters, sports-related disputes, and labour and employment matters; and a highly respected Professor of Law at the University of Western Ontario. Professor McLaren has updated the case study and will be available during the workshop to guide participants through the case study.

This workshop is a must for all insolvency professionals, practitioners, financial advisors, and lenders who wish to improve and further develop their negotiating and dispute resolution skills.

TMA (Toronto Chapter) Workshop Sub-Committee
Milly Chow, Stuart Mitchell, and Toni Vanderlaan - Co-chairs
Maria Konyukhova, Wael Rostom, Victor Tkachenko and Alec Zimmerman

* This workshop has limited space for 40 participants and qualifies for Law Society, CAIRP, as well as OICA continuing professional development credits. $250 inclusive of HST for non-TMA members, and $200 inclusive of HST for TMA members. Includes both breakfast and lunch.
